

LOOT.

About four the pass was evacuated, and at dusk the enemy were in full retreat, the flank movement evidently making them fearful for their communications. Our troops bivouacked on the field at elevations varying from 6,000 feet to 9,000 feet.

Water was scarce, but wood, fortunately, was abundant. Our loss was two officers and twenty men killed, and two officers and seventy-one men wounded. It is supposed the enemy left nearly 300 dead, over 130 being found on the field. Twenty guns and a large amount of stores and rifles were captured, and by the 4th of December the Afghan field force was in utter rout. The success was most complete. The position taken could hardly have been stronger. The enemy fought both with skill and determination. As in all cover fighting, the element of chance played a considerable part, leaving little room for generalship. The night march being undiscovered was a most fortunate circumstance. Had the enemy kept the slightest lookout we must have met with a reverse. The front attack was well carried out, the Eighth Foot and the Fifth Punjab Infantry getting up within one thousand yards of the pass, while the Horse Artillery made splendid practice, completely silencing their guns by 2 p. m.

Along with Roxy's other troubles she

a mean feeling, and this was a new and bit

the highest and most ideal life. She was unable any more to think of that dark

Kirley girl with composure. "It pained her to recall how lustreous were her black eyes,

how magnificent her hair, and how

of her mind into which she herself was aid and abetted to look, was a suspicion that served as a spur to her plans resolution to the Texas mission into execution at once.

The farewell meeting was duly appointed to be on the last Sunday that Mark was to be in London, and on Saturday morning Mark's day rattled up in the Colonel Bonny's door. The door was opened by a maid, and she said, "The Colonel is waiting for you."

As for Nancy, she was not without forming a plan for obtaining Mark except that of trying to regain her influence over her husband, and this seemed impossible since steadily advanced meeting her, and she was dreadfully afraid on that of a collision with the Colonel. But when she last heard that Mark was about going, she determined at least to gratify the resentment

of her family. She put the Testament and watch-chain in her pocket and took her stand on the wharf boat at noon.

When all the porters and sailors and the church members should stand around to bid Brother Bonny good-bye, she would do her duty, exhibit her loyalty, and send that hateful Adams girl away with the biggest kind of humbug in her house. And so for hours she stood up and down the wharf waiting for the arrival of the "Duke of Orleans."

The persistent Colonel Bonny had not shown usual control in his present depression. Perhaps this was because it was so probable and so palpable, that there was no possibility of his showing any signs of weakness, and that he was so much of a man, that he would not allow himself to be defeated by a woman, and that he was so much of a man, that he

Lumber and Reciprocity.

The Oregon Palladium has the following remarks on the above subject:—"The Canadians are not wholly indifferent to reciprocity, as some would have us believe. The present government, it has been claimed, is hostile to that measure, because Sir John has taken upon high tariff. The truth is that the administration urges that policy to force the United States into reciprocal trade, and this is not sought to be concealed. It is also true that the necessity of reciprocity with the Dominion is constantly growing in importance to us, and is urged by the best commercial men in every country. Some few localities in our border would, they imagine, be injured by reciprocity, but the importance of opening up the country the Canadian lumber district, and getting our supply cheaper is a very more seriously considered. Our rapidly depleting forests, except such as are so far away that they cannot be marketed to advantage, are fast giving out, and we need Canadian lumber as much as they need our products."

Lumber and Reciprocity.

As the Palladium is published in a great lumber receiving port, its utterances in the above regard are entitled to considerable weight. It truly says that the demand for the people of Canada is to obtain fair play in commercial matters from the United States, and we are pleased to believe, on the information of the Palladium, that the great but as yet unexploited lumber of Canada is likely, owing to the necessities of our neighbors, to receive more consideration than for some years past they have vouchsafed to it.

Lumber and Reciprocity.

The Mail thus tersely narrates how Mr. Joly's "a few of the men" keeps him in office. "Spoken Toronto is really occupied in endeavoring to bring the Quebec Government in line. The writ for Sir Joseph's county has not yet been issued, and the constituency remains unrepresented. The reason is not far to seek. The late member, Hon. Mr. Rachand, was elected by a majority of 64, and within five days after his election Mr. Justice Scott, struck from the list the name of 80 of those who had voted for the late Treasurer. Thus the Government party would be placed in a minority should an election be called. At the general election in September, 1876, the Conservative was elected to the Dominion House of Commons by a small majority, and the electors of the county claim that the new election for the Local Legislature should take place under the present list, but Mr. Letellier and his Ministry have decided that the election shall be deferred until March next, when the list shall have been revised. In order to accomplish this, a writ is in preparation, which the speaker, but not dated. The Quebec election law provides that, within forty days after the issue of a writ for a new election, the nomination must take place, and the date of such nomination to be fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council. But the writ cannot be issued until it is dated. Speaker Toronto had promised that he would sign the writ, which he has done; but while he literally fulfils his promise, he practically does not, for he omits the essence of it, the date. Meanwhile the Government shows honor on him, and create him a Queen's Counsel."

Lumber and Reciprocity.

A NEW LEGAL POINT FOR WARRICKS.—The London Free Press says:—"At last arises the case of Benedict v. Ker was tried, where the plaintiff endeavored to recover the price of barley left in store in the warehouses of the defendant, who had destroyed by fire, Judge Patterson, Toronto, entered a verdict for the defendant on the ground that he had a right to his plaintiff's barley belonging to defendant, as contented for by defendant's counsel, the Hon. A. S. Hardy, Mr. Robert Smyth (of Wilson & Smyth), counsel for the plaintiff, appealed against the decision of the Judge before the Courts at Toronto, and contended that the defendant in mixing the barley became liable for the value. The full court sustained this view, and, as we see by Saturday's legal reports, reversed Judge Patterson's verdict."

Lumber and Reciprocity.

CARROTS.—What the apple is to human kind, the carrot is to all kinds of stock. When animals have been eating dry through a long winter, juicy and refreshing carrots are greatly appreciated. The old and tapering varieties are gradually being replaced by the new stump-rooted and conical kind. The latter are long and slender, and early short horns are good. The old white Belgian green is a variety. The white Belgian green is a variety. The large and about half above ground, which is good for feeding to stock.

LORD BRACONFORD'S REFERENCE TO THE EVENT IN HIS HOUSE OF LORDS.

The Earl of Bracconford said—My Lords, when I had the honor of addressing you it was on the warm confidence of public life. I had no idea of those who were disappointed should have appeared to your lordships. It is upon a subject on which there will be unanimity; but also it is the unanimity of a (hear, hear) My Lords, you are too well aware that a great calamity has fallen on the Royal Family of this realm. A Prince who loved us, that he left us, and who always visited her Fatherland with delight, and whose women the brightest circles in which they lived—had been summoned from this world to the angels of his family, her friends, and her subjects. I am sure that all of us will venture to call her by that name, that she was a crown-princess of the most striking of culture and rare intelligence, with the most pure and refined domestic sentiment. (Hear, hear.) You, my Lords, who know her life well, can recall the agonizing hour when she attended the funeral of her illustrious father, who had stretched out her arms and formed her last wishes. You can recall, too, the moment when she, amidst her husband's brother at a time when the hopes of England seemed to depend upon his life, and now you can remember too that she was a whole of her own family having been stricken down by a malignant disease, she passed her last hours in the hospital, still at last her own vital power has perhaps been exhausted, and she has fallen. My Lords, there is something wonderful in the circumstances in the immediate cause of her death. The physicians who permitted her to guard over her suffering family enjoyed her in no circumstances whatsoever to be tempted into an embrace. Her admirable self-restraint carried her through the crises of these terrible calamities in safety, and she remembered and observed the injunctions of the physicians; but it became her lot to break her own spirit, quite a while, the death of her husband, to whom he was so devotedly attached, and the boy was overcome with misery that the agonized mother clasped him in her arms and wept with him. My Lords, I hardly know subject more pathetic which poets might commend, or which painters might depict in the arts, from the highest to the lowest branches, whether it be painting, sculpture, or even music, it is impossible to forget that this moment the suffering of the noble woman who has left behind, and of the children who were so devoted to her. But our immediate duty is to offer our condolence to those whose happiness or whose sorrow always excites our sympathy, the loyalty and affectionate regard of this House. (Hear, hear.) Upon Her Majesty a great grief has fallen, which none but Her Majesty, none but the Queen, can so completely and suitably feel. Seventeen years ago Her Majesty experienced the crushing sorrow of her life. Then she was particularly sustained by her husband, who she loved, and who she had in her labor, and who she had by her presence and counsel. Her Majesty now feels the loss of her husband, and she is not only haunted. I feel that it is impossible to say any language which can express the consolation of the suffering of the noble woman who has left behind, and of the children who were so devoted to her. Improved Breeds of Sheep.

On this subject L. E. Brown read an essay before the Kentucky Agricultural Association, in which he specified the following breeds of sheep as the purest and most profitable to raise, breeding a flock:

1. The merino is a breed originally Spanish, but now generally existing over Europe and the United States, and very extensively in Australia. The merino large fine skin the skin of the neck is long and pendulous, the chole and forehead bearing wool, the fleece is fine, long, soft and curly, and on ringlets, abundant in oil, which attracts dust, gives it a dingy appearance, and soon after which it is silky and white. This variety fades slowly, and is valuable mainly for the excellence of its wool.

2. The Leicester sheep is regarded in Europe as one of the most valuable of the long wools. This breed in the present improved condition is the result of the skill and care of Mr. Bakewell, of England, who soon after the middle of the last century began to make experiments for the improvement of the old Leicester. He succeeded in creating a long and of better quality, weighing eight pounds, and a easily made very fat.

3. The color is white, and both sexes are barreled, with pale face tinged with blue, and low carriage. Other breeds of long wools in England have been greatly improved by crossing with this.

4. The Southdown is one of the most popular breeds, both in England and the United States. They are exceedingly neat in form, both in head and body, with gray face and legs well covered with wool, the fleece short, thick and soft, the outer surface often appearing as smooth as though nicely clipped. This breed stands at the head of all breeds for superior table qualities, which do not rank so high for quantity and quality of wool.

5. The most important and valuable of all breeds of sheep is the Cotswold or Clonster, the wool of which has been held in great esteem since the fourteenth century, and has generally commanded a higher price than any other. In 1844, the VI. of England sent a present of them to John of Arragon. So the Cotswolds date back to a right honorable age and rich royal patronage. But in modern times the Cotswolds have been greatly improved by crossing with the Leicester, producing a shorter wool and better mutton than in former times. The Cotswold of to-day has a long, straight body, well rounded ribs, flanking low down, good full tail, broad back, full and low wither, a good style, head, broad between the eyes, neat tapering snout, short legs, with head, ears and legs covered with wool. Edging together a pretty and stylish body covered with fine, long, wavy wool, which is glossy and very valuable in great demand.
The face in this breed is sometimes gray,
but not generally so. They are more docile than any other breed, and are easily fed very kindly, making good mutton, but are not considered in this respect equal to the Scottish.

Heaves and Poll-Evil.

The symptoms of heaves are so well marked that there is very little difficulty in diagnosing the disease. The affected animal sneezes at the flanks, or rather performs what is known as abdominal respiration, by bringing into play at the moment of expiration the abdominal muscles, and for the purpose of aiding the lungs and diaphragm in the function of expiration and respiration.
The disease may be defined as being great difficulty of breathing, continuous, accompanied by a cough, and a discharge of mucus from the nostrs, musty, gray, impured, and very valuable in great demand.
The face in this breed is sometimes gray,

MY WIFE

I held her, laughing, in my arms. A blue-eyed child of gold; she said, "I'm married to you, and I'll marry you when I'm old."

We met again. These pretty looks were faded and faded, but she said, "I'm married to you, and I'll marry you when I'm old."

Rough on the Campbells.
A Macdonald and some Campbells, happening to meet on the road from their respective churches, began comparing notes as to what they had heard. "Well," says Macdonald, "I've heard that you're a fine fellow, but I never heard before how terrible strong the scripture goes against you."

The Reproof Accepted.
"If you're the saleswoman of whom I bought this handkerchief," said a customer, "I am one of your dry pool stores."

BENSON'S CAPSINE

POROUS PLASTER

IS A GREAT REMEDY.

This really wonderful article was invented

as an improvement on the ordinary porous plaster.

Contains all the merit of the common porous

plaster, and in addition, more powerful composition of active vegetable ingredients, which make it not only superior to other porous plasters, but to all other external remedies, including the use of the so-called official applications. &c. Its use is simple, powerful, and effectively than any similar remedy ever devised.

ITS CHEAPNESS.

A single plaster, which is used in many instances, especially when intended for children,

can be cut in two and the parts applied at different times. It is not exhausted in a day

it can be worn, taken off, and worn again, and the operation repeated several times. Because of its cheapness, it is especially recommended for the following ailments:

LAME BACK.

Weakness of the Back and Muscles, Kidney Disease, Rheumatism, Scrofula, Lum-

NOT TO BE SURPASSED

Mark respected Roxy's enthusiasm. But he was tired of the strain on his eyes. He should not live at a moral compass, and every attempt to bring him back to the old way of feeling and thinking only irritated him, and deepened his resolution to break no further restraint. He was not sure that he did not owe himself certain compensation for what he had suffered in the past.

The prospect of his soon inheriting his father's property had increased his confidence in the town, and the state of being intimate in no disagreeable to the self of any man. Mr. X's old vision of political ascendancy again dominated over him, and he bent all his energies to satisfy his ambition. He was young, and full of vigorous life, and with a great country, and a great city, and a great man to be religious; it is hard for such a man to relinquish after the fashion of thirty years ago.

To add to the embarrassment of Roxy's situation, his new father would not cross the Bonny threshold, and it was not often that he could get away to see him. And then it was only to take a scolding for her folly in "warning himself out with taking care of Colonel Bonny, and teaching his boys 'an unbecoming and idiot.' Adams thought.

Mark was often absent, while attending to business on other parts of the judicial circuit, and Roxy felt, with terror, when he returned, how far away the one from the other they were drifting. Mark's pleasure-loving disposition had revived with increased power since his long self-restraint. He was the leader of every party in wit and buoyant spirits, and to be leader was to be happy. He was happier away from home, where he was petted and admired, than he was at home, where he was under condemnation.

Roxy's temper did not stand the strain very well. Her's was a character noble in the direction of action, and self-sacrifice for an object. But the high probability of endurance of suffering, inevitable and apparently useless, she had not yet learned. Against Mark's neglect of her advice, her carelessness for her society, and the general disappointment and inactivity of her life, she rebelled bitterly. Only a high-spirited woman can undertake such a life as Roxy proposed, and so high-spirited women can brook neglect. She had no motive to enjoy the only life that offered itself to her. She had not yet, at least, education enough to accept with peace and patience what she could not avoid. A young person full of energy is apt to be impatient with the impermanent and insubstantial world of fate. After awhile, one learns that this beating heart of the one who has been so long affected is not a jet of the world. Then the improved yields, it may be with a cheerful and the best of it, it may be with a sullen and sultry despair, it may be with a querulous and hopeless longing. Roxy had yet found out that she could not beat down the wall.

The opportunities for Mark's ambition came to him rapidly. The death of the member for Lunenburg left a vacancy in the Legislature; a new election was ordered, and the Whigs, seeing a chance to secure once more a representative who had not held since Mark's previous election, nominated him again for the place. The canvass was short and vigorous, and Mark won the election. He was just two weeks in the Legislature, a leader in the debates, a member of the Finance Committee, a member of the Committee on the Judiciary, and a member of the Committee on the Education. He was just two weeks in the Legislature, a leader in the debates, a member of the Finance Committee, a member of the Committee on the Judiciary, and a member of the Committee on the Education.

A coalition of some kind with the severe discipline of the old-fashioned Methodism would not be avoided by any one taking Mark's road. Haymond would only seem to insure his not being overlooked. Roxy awaited this inevitable collision with hope and fear. It might startle Mark into some kind of recoil from the downward tendency of his present course of greedy ambition, but it might break all the restraints that held him. For the moral restraints of habit are but so many lines at which a man may stop, and every line obliterated there are the fewer checks in the way of the impetuous man. Unhappy, the first collision was on one of those restrictions so often insisted upon by religionists, with a stress in inverse ratio to their importance. To obtain a license to preach, a man in that time might be a miser, he might be dishonest in a mild way, he might be covetous and a backslider from a pious stand point, he might put the biggest apple on the top of the barrel or the little picture in the bottom of the bag, and the church could not reach him. But let him once see a man ride on two bare-backed horses, and jump through a hoop! That was a tangible apostasy, sure to bring ecclesiastical penalties.

Mark was called before the church, with other like offenders. His pride was wounded, and he would have thrown up his membership, but he could not quite resist the entreaties of Roxy. As it was, he surrendered his license to preach, and expressed his sorrow that he had been so solemnly promised not to do a circus again, not a hard promise surely.

But though Mark had apologized, he was now entirely estranged from the influence of the church. For discipline may save the credit of the church, at the same time it may destroy the offender. It seems a cruel thing to have occurred to people that it is sometimes the loss of a man to the church to suffer the just for the unjust.

A VISIT TO MANITOBA.

No. VIII.

The Province of Manitoba contains about 9,000,000 acres, or 14,000 square miles, and is divided into parishes, each containing about 360 square miles. These parishes or counties are again divided into townships, of which there are 300 in number. As the country is so vast, the country was not open to settlement until 1871. Before that time, however, some of the land had been made in the vicinity of settlement along the river in the vicinity of Fort Garry. As many of these pioneer settlers were French Canadian, they were in the French system of dividing land in very irregular narrow strips averaging from 6 to 10 chains in width, along the crooked windings of the Red and Assiniboine rivers, and extending back a distance of two miles. These settlers had obtained from the H. C. Co., by the transfer of the contract to the Dominion Government, the right to lay out the land for two miles straight out in line with their property, up to a certain season of the year. This land was given to them by the Government, and thus these narrow farms were made four miles long. Government scrip, which will be alluded to hereafter, was issued in payment for the old "Hay Right."

These long narrow farms extending along the rivers rendered the establishment of municipalities, school sections, etc., very difficult. The very large part of this small province set apart for RECREATION OF DIFFERENT KINDS no doubt, seriously retards its rapid growth and development. 1,400,000 acres of good land mostly in the immediate vicinity of Winnipeg were set aside for half-breed and Indian reserves for the railway reserve; 500,000 acres for the Manitobans; several townships as Indian reserve; a reserve for the French Canadian; a reserve for the Bay Company's reserve of one-twentieth of the whole, or 400,000 acres; and sections 11 and 29 in each township for educational purposes. The policy of the Government of making such reservations by a government taken out of the best of the Province and placed as these were in the hands of people not likely to do much toward the development of either the agricultural, manufacturing or business interests of the country is, in the opinion of your correspondent, to say the least, lamentable. I can give you, however, that the half-breed reserve has not turned out a draw back to the Province, but rather the reverse, as they nearly all sell their land as fast as they can at more nominal figures as to allotments made and the titles pass into their hands. Generally they not only sell their own claims at once, but also sell for others those of their children, known as "name" claims, an explanation of which will be given further on.

A contagious mania for speculation has existed here for the past three or four years, and the quarantine restrictions have not been sufficiently guarded to keep them from reaching outward even to the "City of the Bay."

The great sources of investment and speculation here are real estate, and the majority of those of a speculative nature. Mr. Dymond invested all their available funds in it. Merchants in many instances have drawn heavily from the banks, and taken so much out of their legitimate business, that they have been obliged to place themselves in embarrassing positions. There are a number of wealthy men in Winnipeg to-day who put all the money they have in real estate, and they thereby constantly keep themselves what is termed "land poor."

As many of your readers are interested in half-breed claims and other sources of speculation, in which they have injudiciously invested, and value, and are now selling here as fast as they can, and are really pined at that price. The conveyance of a claim cannot, of course, be placed on record till after the allotment has been made, therefore, a speculator who has a claim of this kind, and who has not yet had his claim purchased, has previously been a claimer. The half-breed is as a rule said to be honest, but the half-breed is not so honest as he seems to be. A percentage of knaves among them. Unscrupulous speculators make a business of buying up the claims of the half-breed, and then they are able to procure them under such circumstances for a mere trifle, probably a glass of liquor and a few dollars. Only about five per cent. of the claims have been sold a second time, and nearly all of these have gone down to Ontario. Through purchasing them a number of BELLEVILLE SPECULATORS HAVE BEEN MADE VERY RICH.

Two or three instances have been brought under my notice where claims have been purchased by Belleville people after the allotment were actually sold to them. The policy of the Government of making such reservations by a government taken out of the best of the Province and placed as these were in the hands of people not likely to do much toward the development of either the agricultural, manufacturing or business interests of the country is, in the opinion of your correspondent, to say the least, lamentable. Generally they not only sell their own claims at once, but also sell for others those of their children, known as "name" claims, an explanation of which will be given further on.

When the names of all the half-breed entitled to land in a particular parish are procured and the survey completed, the allotment is first drawn by the Lieutenant-Governor and Sir, Mr. Codd, resident agent of Dominion land, and then the names are drawn in turn to Ottawa, sanctioned there, printed and returned, and immediately published. Anxious purchasers on the watch then see where their allotments have been purchased, and then a GENERAL BUSH FOR THE REGISTRY OFFICE.

Some of the parishes are a considerable distance from the Dominion Land Office at Winnipeg, and as the registration must be made there of a cash certificate, the time is allotted, there is hastening of men on horseback and in all kinds of conveyances to get to the registry office and have claims recorded before the names have been purchased, and then a GENERAL BUSH FOR THE REGISTRY OFFICE.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, JAN. 16.

City and Vicinity.

LATE.—The mail train from the west was upwards of an hour late today.

TRAINS.—Seven of them took lodgings in the hotel last night.

TO COLLECTORS.—A letter from Mr. W. J. Diamond on harbor dues will appear to-morrow.

POSTOFFICE.—It will be seen by advertisement that Mr. John Hagerman's sale of thoroughbred Ayshire stock has been postponed until Wednesday next.

CENTURY COMPANY.—The annual meeting of the Century Company is to be held on Monday afternoon next, for the reception of the report and the election of Directors.

DID NOT SHOW.—The New Orleans Minstrels had so small an audience last night that they did not give a performance, and the money paid for tickets was returned to the door.

ENTRANCE TO FORTY-SEVEN.—The following pupils from Mr. Armistead's room passed a successful examination, and were admitted to the Fourth Class:—William Guthrie, Willie Dolan and Lottie Ferguson.

THE WEATHER.—The temperature at 9 p.m. last night was seven and a half degrees below zero. Since then it has slowly risen and at one o'clock today was ten degrees above zero—that is only twenty-two degrees below the freezing point.

INSPECTION.—The batteries of No. 1 and 4 Companies of the 49th Battalion have been inspected by Brigade Major Leitch in the County Armory, and the officers of the Battalion Rifles. Both officers expressed themselves greatly pleased with the armory and the manner in which they are kept, and highly complimented the officers of the Companies.

ANOTHER STORM.—Following the "cold snap" has come a snow storm, which has added materially to the drifts and the difficulties of travelling, which are now so great that communication between city and county has been cut off, unless the County authorities make an effort to put the principal roads in a better condition.

SONGS OF SCOTLAND.—Mr. Hamilton Corbett, whose fame as an interpreter of the beautiful songs of Scotland is world-wide, is to give one of his popular entertainments in the Metropolitan Hall on Thursday evening next. He will be assisted by Mr. Scott, pianist, and will no doubt give a pleasing performance. The advertisement, which appears in another column, supplies particulars.

ENTRANCE AND INTERMEDIATE EXAMINATIONS.—The admission of all the 46 pupils, previously admitted by the local examiners, has been confirmed by the Central Committee. Seven pupils passed the Intermediate in December, and ten last June, making seventeen pupils for the year. George Jack, one of the successful intermediate candidates, is not 14 years of age, and yet he passed an examination for a Second Class Provincial Certificate.

A HINT.—The Napane Standard says: "The Intelligencer says that by fastening the wheels of the steam fire engine, it slips along very easily, and is a great improvement on locomotion by revolutions of the wheels. It might be well worth while to try the experiment with the Napane engine." Our contemporary is in error. It was the loose carts of which mention was made in these columns, not the steam fire engine, and instead of the wheels being merely fastened, iron runners are placed beneath them.

A MERCANTILE TREAT.—Mr. Hawell announces through our advertising columns that a great entertainment will be given on the evenings of Friday and Saturday of next week, when the Martinez English Opera Company will give performances in the Opera House. This company, which numbers twenty-eight performers, will produce two popular operas, with full cast, chorus and orchestra, and their repertoire warrants us in saying in first class style. Miss Indiana Martinez, and her sister, Estelle, are spoken of as a highly gifted artist. Mr. M. Strakosch heard her sing in Milan, Italy, in an opera, and offered her an engagement as prima donna, the same lady, Maria and made her debut in November, 1876, being supported by Prince Fradde Gialla, Seg. Begliardi, Mr. Gotschall and others. Since then her career has been one of success. She possesses a pure soprano of sweetness and power, whilst her method is faultless. In personal appearance she is a beautiful specimen of a splendid type of beauty. The expense of this engagement will be very heavy, and we trust that Mr. Hawell's enterprise will be rewarded by a patronage as liberal and extensive as it deserves.

OUTWARD EXHIBITION.—The House was adjourned yesterday with the adjourned debate on the Address. The discussion took place on the third paragraph, to which an amendment, constituting the security of keeping the annual expenditure within the annual income, had been moved by Mr. Lander; and an amendment to the amendment, in favor of a reduction in annual expenditure, was introduced by Mr. Parkhill. The debate was again adjourned.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

HANTS AND CUSTOMS OF THE GOTHAMITES—THE REVENUE LITERATURE—THE NATIONAL CAPITAL AS SEEN BY MR. TALKER—THE CASES OF THE REVENUE—OUR ZERO!

(From our regular correspondents.)

New York, Jan. 16, 1879.
The tendency in this city is to regard the winter more steady habits, and a less ostentatious hospitality. New York families probably consider a little company as an luxury, and the winter months are a time when they are more inclined to be at home. The desire of all people to visit this city has made it more so, and it is now a fact that the winter months are a time when they are more inclined to be at home. AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

PORT ROBINSON, Jan. 16.—When the troops last came with the escaped Cheyenne, the latter had taken possession of natural mounds for protection on the north fork of Indian creek. Here the troops abandoned pursuit yesterday, returning to Fort Robinson today. Pursuit will be resumed on Monday.

Of which there are but two with the squares and children in the fort prison; of those there are 14 wounded, and one of whom a dying wound from the effects of gunshot wounds. The captain states that while they had no land in planning the escape, they are opposed to surrender, but it is thought that these can be persuaded to the last southern reservation. They claim they were told when surrendering that they could remain here, and here their parents and their children were made. Thus far no order has been received for their removal. Five soldiers have been killed or died from wounds, and 8 wounded. 22 Indians, of which 22 were women and the remainder women and children, have been killed. It is believed that about 20 Indians, including Dull Knife, escaped.

The State at Pine Ridge agency has made no demonstration other than an indulgence in exhibitions of grief over their slain relatives. It is not believed among army officers that an outbreak will occur.

New York, Jan. 16.—The Herald's Omaha special says, Jan. 16, Schuyler, sent to investigate the Cheyenne outbreak, reports that many Indians, chiefly squaws, had given in before the outbreak, and only leading chiefs still held out. Several of them were induced to come out for talk, and were immediately secured, Wild Hog, one of their number, stabbing a soldier during the talk, this caused the subsequent trouble.

Washington special.—The Herald says in its executive session yesterday, speaking alluded to the President as "Mr. Hayes, so called President," and designated Sherman as his clerk. The Herald says it is doubtful if Potter's resolution for the investigation of the Cheyenne dispatches can obtain the two-thirds vote needed to pass.

Pathe, Boston, of New York, visited the President yesterday. The latter said the success of the peace policy among the Indians was prevented by encroachments upon their reservation, and by the action of dishonest agents. The first cause could not be remedied, but the second was receiving attention.

James J. Reid, President and Secretary of an Insurance Company in Jersey City, has been indicted for perjury, in having sworn to the correctness of a statement to the Insurance Commissioners.

London, Jan. 16.—The great Broadway fire, on Tuesday night, aggregate, $1,707,000; Insurance, $1,813,000. Origin of the fire a mystery. There is some anxiety among the lawyers over the physical and mental condition of the coroner. He has been in ill health for some time.

Albert Bink, employed in a Jersey City sugar refinery, fell from a building, and was killed. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of death on Tuesday night, aggregate, $1,707,000; Insurance, $1,813,000. Origin of the fire a mystery.

THURSDAY, JAN. 16.
ASSAULT.

The case of Burrows vs. Doyle was further adjourned until Monday, for evidence. RAILWAY AGRIKALATION.—An exchange of letters between a prospective amalgamation of the Grand Trunk and Great Western lines, and some prominent railway officials are anxious that the union will be brought about within the next six months. There have been some difficulties in the way heretofore, but it is thought that these can be adjusted. The stock of the two roads is nearly all controlled by the same English capitalists.

Benevolence.

The Lutheran Observer says: "Benevolence is good-will. But good-will, like every other right feeling, is not sincere or real if it does not find outward expression. So we speak of benevolence here as displayed in bringing of-ings to Christ. These offerings are manifold. Among them are influence, time, bread for the hungry, clothing for the naked, and money. The last named represents all material gifts, for with money we can buy food, clothing, fuel and medicine, can provide care for the sick and shelter for the outcast, and print and circulate the word of God, and support missionary labor. The use of money determines the use of time and influence more or less; for the man who makes money only to hoard it or to spend it for his own pleasure, will prompt others, by his example, to yield only to selfish impulses, and will have no leisure for well-doing.

Gems of Thought.

He who loses hope may then part with anything.

The worst impossible is the mother tongue of little souls.

Gravity is only the bark of wisdom, but it serves to preserve it.

It is not wit merely, but temper, which must form the well-bred man.

Our wealth is often a snare to ourselves and always a temptation to others.

Conversation enriches the understanding but solitude is the school of genius.

True philanthropy buries not its gold ostentatious charity, but builds its hospital

The pleasure of love is in loving. We are happier in the passion we feel than in the things which we excite.

It is with treasures of the mind as with other treasures; we become more covetous of them the richer we grow.

Certain persons are like zeros. They require a figure to precede them, and then their value is increased tenfold.

It is from our hearts, and not from outward source, that we draw the lines which color the web of our existence.

The mind may be overburthened; like the body it is strengthened more by the warmth of exercise than of clothes.

In conversing with men, the woman tact and wisdom is always ready to hold the inferior position—that of the person instructed.

Be careful in your speech. A word once spoken, a coach with four horses cannot overtake it and bring it back. It will do no harm for us all to remember this.

anything; and think not the more of yourself; and if you have nothing, keep the cold water always at hand, and think less of yourself.

A man who has the elements so mixed within him that he naturally, as one says, great to fret him, is bound to worry.

No true gentleman or lady will want to wound the feelings of any one. Uniformly kind, courteous and polite treatment of persons is one mark of a true man or woman.

No man is richer, or happier, or wiser for It commends no one to society; it is dising to the refined, and abominable to good.

One great secret of domestic enjoyment too much overlooked—that of bringing

There are two ways of getting through the world. One way is to make the best of what you have and the other is to make the worst of what you have.

Unspeakeable are the emotions of all people; a sense of personal dignity or shame keeps them quiet; but to most of them is vouchsafed a single confidential friend, whose ear all the pent-up feelings are poured

Euripides was wont to say silence was the answer to a wise man ; but we seem to have a greater occasion for it in our dealings with fools and unreasonable persons ; for men of breeding and sense will be satisfied with

He who thinks no man above him but his virtue, none below him but for his vices can never be obsequious or assuming in wrong place, but will frequently emulate in stations below him, and pity those none

What spectacle more pleasing does the essafford than a happy woman contented in sphere, ready at all times to benefit her li-world by her exertions, and changing briars and thorns of life into roses of a p-dise by the magic of her touch?

Choose ever the plainest road ; it always answers best ; for the same reason choose to do and try what is the most just and most direct. This conduct will save a thousand struggles, and will deliver you from secret torments which are the never-failing

It is very easy to spoil children by rearing them in idleness. A girl who is never allowed to sew, all of whose clothes are made for her, and put on her, till she is twelve, fifteen or eighteen years of age, is spoiled. Her mother has spoiled her by doing everything for her.

The habit of exaggeration is one which rapidly grows into untruth, if encouraged. Never "color" a story for the sake of a foolish jest, or to excite the laughter of a

AFFECTIONS.—It appears unaccountable that our teachers generally have directed their instructions to the head, with little attention to the heart. From Aristotle down to Locke, books without number have been composed for cultivating and improving the understanding; but few, in proportion, for cultivating and improving the affections.—Lord Kaims.

GENIUS.—The only difference between genius and one of common capacity, is, that the former anticipates and explores what the latter accidentally hits upon. But even the man of genius himself more frequently employs the advantages that chance presents.

Abbe Ragnal.

An old colored preacher in Atlanta, Ga. was lecturing a youth of his fold about the sin of dancing, when the latter protested that the Bible plainly said, "There's a time

said the dark divine ; " and it's when a bo gets a whippin' for gwine to a ball."

Dominion Board of Trade.

The annual meeting of the Dominion Board of Trade was commenced at Ottawa on the 21st. The annual report dealt largely with the necessity of pressing for a revision of trade relations with France. It states that Canadian-built ships and all other manufactured goods are not treated under a general French tariff, while British ships and manufactured articles are dealt with under the special provisions of the Cobden-Archer Commercial Convention of 1860, which is now about to expire. The difference between the general tariff rates and those of the special convention are almost, if not entirely, prohibitive as far as relates to most Canadian manufactures. It is suggested that a communication be forwarded to the Chamber of Commerce of the United Kingdom, invoking their aid; the presentation of a petition to the Governor-General, setting forth the disabilities under which Canada struggles, by virtue of the present French tariff, and praying that the Government take immediate steps to represent the whole question to the Queen and her Privy Council. A letter was addressed to the Agent-General, the Association of Chambers of Commerce on the subject of British Colonial trade with foreign countries, in which a reply was received, in which the Chairman said he felt quite sure that the Association would secure the efforts to secure that the Colonies shall be placed on the same footing as the Mother Country in all tariff negotiations with foreign states. The Association of representatives of the commercial bodies of the dependencies of the Empire to meet in London, Mr. Lloyd said that he had received that a notice may be put on the programme for the next annual meeting. He also asked for a statement of the disadvantages which Canada labored to, supply which no time was lost. The communication, dated 18th January, 1879, contained a statement showing the comparative duties levied in France upon British and Canadian products respectively. The following are among the remarks made: "You may notice that, under a very great modification of the tariff, the immense expense incurred by the Dominion Government—and, worse than that, all the toll and outlay incurred by Canadian exhibitors at Paris, have been simply a contribution to an Exhibition from which no practical outcome can be looked for, so far as direct intercourse with France is concerned. It may be further remarked, in the particular case of a really prohibitive Canadian tariff, that the Government has been so dealt with, in that it is remembered that their English registry constitutes them legally, as they are really, British vessels. It is in balance, in the considerable portion of the British Empire, which she will do in her power to strengthen and sustain, and will be ready to make equivalent concessions to foreign countries for advantages received. On the 1st of November, 1878, a circular was issued on the subject of free commercial intercourse between Great Britain and her colonies, and the proposed convention on the subject. The circular is given at length. The Board of Trade, in its report, is full of flattery, in that it represents that the commercial interests of the Empire can be drawn together, and that the Empire can be drawn to Great Britain herself, as also to several Dependencies and her Indian Empire, may be pronounced."

The Rev. Mr. Gifford and Mr. Gifford of Eastman's Springs, killed a bear and captured a cub, near the Mere Bleu. The reverend gentleman is said to have been embraced by the animal, but he escaped unharmed.

The Fire—The schooner "G. W. Moore," Capt. Noel, from Boone Bay, with 400 barrels of herring and 200 quintals of codfish, arrived from Sydney, N. S. Capt. to reduce the amount of bonds now authorized to be issued by said Company, and for other purposes. If the Tamworth project is likely to be carried through, says the Standard, it is time Napanea awakened to her position, for a branch from Kingston would make Tamworth the distributing point for the back country for all time, the serious disadvantage of Napanea.

Badly Sold.

—About two weeks ago as the overland train was passing the attention of the passengers was attracted by the lamentations of a poor Irish emigrant, who began to weep during the night, and every penny of his scanty earnings stolen, and whose family would therefore have beggary in a day.

The charitable passengers at once began a subscription, which finally amounted to over $100.

When the money had been handed to the sufferer, a pious, plausible-looking man, dressed in black and adorned with a white cravat, drew him aside at one of the stopping places and said to him:

"My poor man, I am truly sorry for you. My own case is somewhat similar to yours. I myself sold provided with this world's goods, however, and so will give you $250 more. Here it is $200 gold note. Give me the $250 you have, and keep the rest. May God bless you."

The man thanked him and asked, with many blessings on the generous stranger, who insisted that his gift should not be made known.

When the passengers reached this side of the bay, the pious looking philanthropist was seen to be alone, he having accidentally gotten off at Oakland, for good reasons of his own.

The next day the emigrant repaired to a bank to have his note cashed.

The teller picked up the bill and began narrowly and closely examining it.

"There—there is nothing wrong with the bill, is there?" gasped the poor fellow.

(Now the clever reader has seen all along how the man was duped, and how he had lost a lot of such incidents as this in the old, old, story. Well, we'll see about this.)

"Nothing in the world is the matter with it," said the teller quietly, and he handed the man out fifty cents.

That ended it.

Mr. Alexander Aird, a Scotchman, began seven years ago to utilize the sewage of the City of London, and has since then, in the neighbourhood of the city, the crop he has raised on this land has been unusually large. "ROXY"

BY EDWARD REGOLESTON.

CONTINUED.

The mention of Whittaker at this point quick as a flash sprang into view in her mind a most diabolical and unwelcome thought, which may have been latent for a long while. The superiority of Whittaker, in all his parents and in her, to her stood out in her thoughts, and for the first time there was forced upon her, with a dreadful pang, a confession to her own evil that her choice had been a mistake.

How long had she fondled this feeling!

Once recognized, her thoughts about her husband could never more be the same.

Mark had meant to say a rude thing, he little dreamed how his own name in Roy's heart had been dragged into it and for ever degraded by the frailty of thought his words had started. It was because of the great agony she suffered from the sharp contrast, so unfavorable to her own choice, that she had said that.

Mark was now saying that his words had been having an effect. Now was the time when she was to establish his words as necessary to establish his standing with his friends, and with an aim and the rest. So he proceeded:

"You ought to know what people will say. They think that, because you were poor and then married a man well off, that you are stuck-up. I don't like people to be so much satisfied with their position."

Mark hardly intended this last sentence

to come out as it did, but he was so much excited that he could not help it.

He did not mean to insult his wife, but to defend his own dignity. He would have recalled the words when he saw the first flash of quick and fiery indignation

in Roy's flushed face and eyes that shone like fire.

"Mark Bonny, do you think I thank you for giving me this house and making me the wife of a rich man? I thank you because you were poor and a missionary, going to endure everything for a good cause. You failed miserably, and now you are here.

Here Roy stopped to take breath, and his face was as red as a beet.

"You are a good man, and you are a

you are a good man, and you are a good

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, JAN. 27.

City and Vicinity.

ERATUM.—The name of the woman who was tried in the Police Court on Friday and Saturday on a charge of forgery was Bridget Cronan, not Cronan, as printed.

REMEMBER.—Meeting of the City Council to-night.—Sitting adjourned till the 10th. Rink to-night.—Meeting of the City Council for organization at 2 p. m. to-morrow.

ONTARIO DISCERN.—The Kingston Free Press says:—“The appointment of Rev. T. Golden to Stirling mission is controversial. The church has been closed for over a third of the time for five years.”

HARPER'S MAGAZINE FOR FEBRUARY, 1879.—Harper's Magazine for February while making a marked impression by the extraordinary beauty of its illustrations, is even more remarkable for the temperance and sobriety which it solicits a reading, and for the satisfaction it gives the reader.

SLEEPER.—The rain which fell and froze upon the sidewalks this morning has rendered them, to use a familiar comparison, “as slippery as glass.” Pedestrians move about with much trepidation, especially by the hills, to descend which without falling is a task requiring success of foot and activity.

OUR FOR THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL.—A Montreal paper says:—“A new and splendid car is being built by order of the proprietors of the Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa & Western Railway for the use of His Excellency the Governor-General and the Princess Louise. The car will shortly be ready for service, and will cost about $8,000.”

HOLYOKE STREET CHURCH.—Anniversary services in connection with the above church took place yesterday, when the Rev. W. J. Hunter, D. D., of Toronto, preached excellent discourses at morning and evening services to large congregations. The anniversary meeting will be held this evening. Refreshments will be served from 8 o'clock to 10. The collection for the meeting will be made, after which addresses will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Hunter, Rev. John Burton and other gentlemen.

CRANBERRY.—During the past forty-eight hours the weather has been as changeable as it usually is in England during the winter season. On Saturday morning the temperature was high, and a light shower of rain fell, but during the forenoon a gale commenced to blow from the westward, the temperature gradually falling until it again became very cold. Sunday was a very sharp day, but during the night the temperature rose again, and there were two showers of rain, which rose on falling, between 7 and 8 o'clock this morning. This is change enough to record for one short period.

REMOVED.—The offices of the Hastings Loan and Investment Company have been removed from D. R. Leavens' building, adjoining the Grand Central Hotel, to the very convenient premises have been secured. The company has so far had a very successful business experience, a dividend of 6 per cent on the capital of $25,000 having been declared during the past year, while a considerable sum has been added to the “rest.” Money is loaned on terms as liberal as are accorded by institutions of this nature, and the Directors and officers are local gentlemen, of high reputation, and business men give confidence in the Company whose business they conduct.

THE GRAND JUNCTION.—The Belleville Independent is of opinion that if the Belleville and Peterborough people could agree on a policy and act in concert, the road “would be completed at an early date to Oshawa, with a branch to Bobo de Leon, or perhaps to Fenelon, in which case Peterborough would resume its old position, again have control of the whole of the great north country, and once more become the metropolis of the lumbering trade in Central Canada. Belleville would become the port for all this portion of Canada and the lumber and grain of the Midland Counties would seek shipment from the Belleville wharves.

MCNEILS RUMWAT.—While Mr. Allen McNeils, of Rawdon, was driving his team of horses up Hotel street yesterday, while taking a load of sundries from Geen's drug store, a hand seized on which were two children with a box or boiler on it approached from the opposite direction. When near the horses the box fell from the front of the horse, frightening the spirited animals, which started up the street, turning near the Montreal Bank. Down the street they came at a wild rate of speed, and colliding with some barrels, dashed themselves into the air, but releasing themselves, they dashed across the street, one of the animals running full tilt into the front of Mr. Calkin's car, one of the large plate glass windows in which was smashed badly, entailing a loss of at least $50, on which there was no insurance. The animals, one of which was considerably cut, were soon afterwards taken up. Meanwhile the sleigh, which was left behind, started on a tour of destruction of its own. Attaining great headway on the steep decline, it dashed into the rear of a drug store, the long tongue striking the large sheet of glass in one side of the door and unhinging the door, when it brought up against a pedicel at the end of the counter. Several persons had been narrowly escaped, amongst them, Mr. Thos.

The edition of Stribner in England has doubled within a few months. The London correspondent of the New York Times says:—“The whole lot of the animals (English) put together, are not equal in pictorial art to a single number of Stribner's Halfpenny.”

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Washington special. The world says that it is asserted by some of the members of the House of Representatives that the Rev. Dr. J. P. Thompson, Conkling denounces the Republicans for the opening a way for the thorough examination of the Custer expedition and declares that it will result in reviving Tilden's personal popularity.

The Tribune says that the Potter Committee still intend to make a report declaring that Tilden was defeated only by means of a corrupt political bargain with the Southern Democrats and by frauds in Florida and Louisiana. The Herald says that it now appears probable that there will be a political struggle for the New York Custom House nominations. The administration of people do not mean to be beaten if they can help it.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, JAN. 28.

The East Hastings Election Case.

We congratulate Mr. White upon the result of the trial in this matter. Satisfied from the commencement that a small majority had been by means of undue influence, fraud, bribery, and unscrupulous use of Governmental power, obtained against him, he determined to have a record of the ballots. The official interference of Mr. Harford Ashley, Reeves of Thurlow, on behalf of his party, supplied the material which on the recent gave the majority to Mr. White, but he did not desire to sit as a minority candidate at the very commencement and repeatedly since offered to vacate the seat and "run the election over again." This did not suit the party of the other. They, as is their wont when defeated, resorted to abuse and brag. The judge who performed his duty impartially and properly as the decision of Mr. Justice Armour proved—was slandered by almost every organ of the party from the Globe down to the 17th of September last. It was loudly proclaimed that the judge would be impeached, and Mr. Aylworth would be seated by the Superior Court, so all offers of a new election were rejected with scorn. Mr. Aylworth claims the seat, and will have it, was the cry. Where is he now? His chances of winning M. P. after his name are, we venture to say, infinitely less today than when defeated, nearly a year ago. The corrupt and incompetent Government which supported him, and on whose behalf he ran, has been swept out of existence by such an expression of the people's voice as has seldom been heard in any country; Mr. White and his friends will not again allow over-confidence in a known majority to defeat him. We believe the writ cannot be issued until a Speaker has been elected, and the parties with few exceptions—will not be out of place for to congratulate Judge Lazier upon the endorsement of his acts by Judge Armour. Mr. Lazier on his recent gave Mr. White a majority of legal votes of 20. Mr. Armour on his recent gives him a majority of 52. The difference being accounted for by Judge Armour disallowing all of the ballots excepting ten which were not marked, and the poll No. 5, Hangerford, which poll gave Mr. Aylworth a majority of 24, whilst Mr. Lazier not having the same evidence before him counted all of these ballots.

The result of Judge Armour's recent is that Mr. White is declared to have a majority of legal ballots in his favor of 22. But inasmuch as the result is obtained by the disfranchising through the irregularities of the Deputy Returning Officers of a large number of the electors, Judge Armour ordered a new election, which Judge Lazier did not the power to do.

We would particularly call the attention of the electors to the well merited rebuke of Judge Armour to Harford Ashley and Eleazer Brimble, and all other zealous intermediaries.

His Lordship took occasion to advise the Deputy Returning Officers to allow no one but the proper officer to officiate and instruct them as to their duty, and commented severely upon the officious intermeddling of the gentlemen named, calling them "meddling busybodies."

That bribery was used to a large extent to secure the return of the Right candidate for East Hastings at the last election, we have the fullest evidence, and if we are not misinformed, the corrupt proceedings now instituted to undo Mr. Ashley, at present Reeves of Thurlow, will disclose the manner in which "the party of party" carry elections in Thurlow.

The question of determining who shall be their representative has thus again been remitted to the people of East Hastings. As we have said a writ for a new election cannot be issued until at least four weeks from this date. Meanwhile we call upon the Conservatives of East Hastings, and the friends of Mr. White, irrespective of party, to organize themselves thoroughly and commence the canvass at once. Their candidate is worthy of their best endeavors.

He has fought their battles with energy and ability in the past, and has proved himself to every respect a faithful guardian of their interests, worthy of their entire confidence and of their most earnest efforts to secure their return. We believe that Mr. White's return by a considerable majority is a matter of certainty if the overconfidence which prevailed at the general election, and which so nearly proved fatal, had not intervened again. If the experience of this past election in the contest be not disregarded, all will work actively for the cause, which is that of the electors as well as of Mr. White, who will return to Parliament as the representative of their opinions. Prompt energetic action is what is needed to secure the victory, and we do not think that in asking this of the electors of East Hastings we appeal to them in vain.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

THIRD DAY—MORNING SESSION.

Tuesday, Jan. 30.

The Warden took the chair at 10.25. The minutes of yesterday's session were read and approved.

COMMUNICATIONS.
The Warden read a communication from Brock & Co. regarding photograph of the County.

Mr. Ashley proposed to procure such a picture at the private cost of the members.

From the County Judge, stating that by the completion of a short-hand report the sitting of the County Court had been shortened by four days, and the work had been very satisfactorily performed.

Mr. Ashley stated that his experience had been satisfactory, a considerable saving having been effected.

From the Mayor, enclosing a draft of a petition from George Laidlaw, Esq., President of the Credit Valley Railway Company, to the Dominion Government, relative to Italy way business.

REPORTS.
Mr. Francis presented the report of the Committee on the Trent bridge pier, approving of the plan, and stating that the cheapest way to do the work is by the County Surveyor, who is authorized to advertise for tenders; that the cost will be in all about $7,000; and that the County Council have power to act again to consider the tender, and report at the March session.

Mr. Francis moved the adoption of the report.

Mr. Emo considered that as the Committee was small in numbers, he would like further discussion and explanation before adopting a report upon a matter.

Mr. Francis stated that it is desirable to build the bridge during the winter, as the ice is then passable and the traffic, which is very heavy, would not be interfered with.
